Our reputation and our international references make
EIS the premier choice in the field of air pollution control

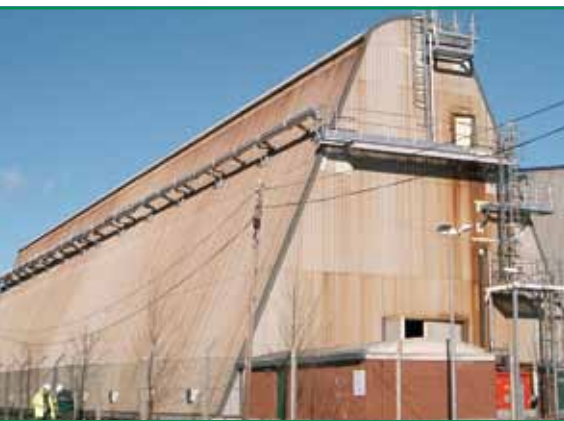

EIS is the leading UK manufacturer of turnkey Air Pollution Control Equipment and we specialise in VOC Abatement and Odour Control Systems.

It is often forgotten that any good VOC Abatement, Odour Control or Dust Extraction System actually consists of two equally important parts. Too often, great care is given to the selection of the final treatment system, whilst too little attention is paid to the capture and ductwork system.

EIS specialise in the design of complete extraction systems. Careful design will enhance the effect of a given exhaust volume and can often reduce the overall amount of extraction that is required, reducing both the capital and running costs of the complete system.

We can manufacture and install ductwork systems in all materials and our experience covers the full range of complexity from small one machine extracts to multi million pound full plant systems.
